

JOHNSON ASSURES BRYAN OF SUPPORT

Democratic Candidate and Minnesota Governor Hold
Love Feast.

COMMONER ADDRESSES AN IMMENSE THROG

Tells of Republican Extravagance,
Deplores Increase of Army and Large Annual Appropriations for Navy, While He Urges Tariff Reform.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 31.—Satisfied that Governor John A. Johnson, of Minnesota, his leading rival for the nomination before the Democratic convention, will support him in the coming campaign, William J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for the presidency, left tonight for Fargo, N. D., where he will speak to-morrow.

This was Johnson-Bryan day in Minnesota's capital. Addressing the members of the State Central Committee this morning, Mr. Bryan said:

"I know I am not the first choice of the Democrats in this State, but it is good to be elected choice in a State where Governor John A. Johnson is first. I am well satisfied to have the preference Johnson and Bryan in Minnesota. The news you bring me that this will be a Democratic year in this State is very pleasing."

The meeting of the State Central Committee was a real love feast, in which Mr. Bryan and Governor Johnson showered compliments and praise upon each other.

Johnson to Speak.

Previous to the gathering of the committee, Messrs. Bryan and Johnson held conferences regarding the campaign, and not only in regard to Minnesota, but the other Northwestern States. They discussed organization and the question of speakers, and these will be provided by the national committee. Governor Johnson pledged his active support to the national ticket, and will make several speeches between now and November 3d.

No sooner had the presidential candidate stepped from the train this morning than he was taken in charge by Governor Johnson, National Committeeman F. B. Lynch, State Chairman Day, Mayor Lawler and others high in the councils of the party.

The greeting accorded Mr. Bryan at the station was most cordial. After breakfast he was escorted by Governor Johnson to the executive chambers, and there for an hour shook hands with the throng which filled in to meet him. Another hour was spent at the Fair Grounds, where the presidential candidate found time to interview the throng which had gathered to see him. He returned to the Fair Grounds and spoke for an hour before an immense crowd.

His principal topic was Republican extravagance. He received a great demonstration upon being introduced by Governor Johnson, and in his preliminary remarks he took occasion to applaud the Governor and urged his hearers to assist in re-electing him as his chief executive.

Republican Extravagance.

Mr. Bryan spoke as follows:

"The Democratic platform makes Republican extravagance one of the issues of the present campaign. The Republican platform is silent on the subject, and naturally so; to have promised economy would have been a mockery, and to have defended the appropriations made by the last Congress would have been impossible. The Fifty-first Congress was commonly called the billion dollar Congress. The appropriations made by the Congress covered two years, amounting for the first time to a billion dollars, or five hundred million dollars a year. The extravagance of that Congress contributed to the overwhelming victory won by the Democrats in the campaign of 1892. The last Congress, however, has made a new record in extravagance. In spite of a deficit of more than sixty millions in the last fiscal year, the appropriations made during the last session amounted to more than a billion dollars, or twice as much as the appropriations for a single session of the Fifty-first Congress. The increase over the year before was ninety million dollars, showing a growth in the growth of the nation."

"While this tendency to extravagance manifests itself in nearly all departments, it is especially noticeable in the Army Department and the Navy Department. The Army is more than twice as large as in 1898, and the appropriations for the army more than three times as great as they were eleven years ago. The expenses of the navy are also about three times what they were a decade ago. The increase in the appropriations for the army and navy alone are $120,000,000 a year in excess of what they were in 1897. The imperialistic policy, for which the Republican party is responsible, is the only excuse for this enormous and increasing drain upon the taxpayers."

"Our platform also calls attention to the fact that $9,000,000 new offices have been created at an expense of $70,000,000 a year, as against an increase of 10,000 new offices, with salaries amounting to $6,000,000, in the Cleveland and McKinley administrations. While every element of our population suffers to a greater or less extent because of the unnecessary expenses of the government, the farmers have special reasons for complaint, because they pay more than their share in the collection and receive less than their share of the benefits which flow from the expenditure of the corporation. Nearly all of our Federal revenues excepting postal receipts are collected from internal revenue taxes upon consumption."

"Taxes upon consumption always overburden those of moderate means and underburden the rich. If the Federal taxes could be separated from the price of the article in which they are concealed and each person's per capita tax be shown, it would be found that the Federal tax now collected would be in effect a graduated income tax, the largest per cent being collected from the small incomes and the least per cent upon the large incomes. And so it is."

(Continued on Second Page.)

CHEMIST'S BODY IS FOUND

Search for Falkenbach, Drowned at Goshen, Pa., Results in Success
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

GOSHEN, Pa., August 31.—The body of P. J. Falkenbach, who was drowned nearly a week ago, was found by Jerry Porlins this afternoon in the North river, which runs through the famous Goshen Pass. Searchers have been dynamiting the river and carefully inspecting the banks ever since last Wednesday, but it was not until today that their efforts availed.

The body of the well-known chemist, who was employed by the Goshen Iron Company, was in a horrible condition, showing that the man had suffered untold agonies in the rushing waters. He was a graying man, in the temple, and the undertaker who took charge of the remains said he had never before seen any body in such a frightful condition.

The place where the unfortunate young man was found was about a mile and a half below the spot where he jumped from the boat. Mr. Frederick E. Fenton, who was with Mr. Falkenbach during the wild trip through the pass, assisted in the work of recovering the body, which will be shipped to the home of the chemist at Columbus, Ohio. A reward of $25 was offered for the recovery. The boat was found about one mile above the body, as were also two oars. Mr. Fenton, who accompanied Mr. Falkenbach, has entirely recovered from his awful experience. The drowning of the well-known young man cast a pall over the entire community.

DO AS JEROME SAYS

Prosecution of Captain Hains to Be Directed as He Suggests.

NEW YORK, August 31.—After a conference to-day with District Attorney Jerome in regard to the method to be adopted in prosecuting Captain Hains, charged with the killing of William E. Annis on August 15th, District Attorney Darrin, of Queens county, said that he was going to be entirely governed in his preparation of the case by the suggestions of the captain. He would do this because of the similarity between the case of Harry K. Thaw, the prosecution of which Mr. Jerome directed, and that of the Hains brothers. Counsel for Hains have been notified by the district attorney that he will be ready to try the case on the opening day of the October term of court, which, it is expected, will be the 5th of that month.

So serious do the members of the Hains family consider the captain's condition that they have arranged to have his mother, Mrs. P. C. Hains, go to Long Island City to see him some time this week, although she is in a feeble condition, and the journey is expected to prove a trying one for her. There is some talk of her taking the stand to testify to her son's general character.

The wife of Captain Hains is expected also to take the stand. It is believed now that she has abandoned her intention of offering her testimony voluntarily to the prosecution because of the effect it might have on the prospects of her children. She may, however, be a witness for the defense, although in this capacity she might be considered to be in an anomalous position, as the defense plea is based on an allegation that her relations with Annis, as they were reported in the press, were of a criminal nature, he believing them true.

Captain Hains' status as an army officer has suffered some change. His pay has been discontinued, and in the event of his being convicted he will receive no pension. It is believed, however, his accumulated back pay will be turned over to him, and he will be continued on the army rolls.

VERMONT ELECTION TO-DAY

George H. Prouty, Republican, Conceded
the Governorship Winner.

MONTPELIER, VT., August 31.—Final argument was made in the political contest for the governorship to-morrow the jury of the people, in choosing a Governor and other State officers, as well as two members of Congress, will render the verdict. That a majority of the voters will favor the Republican ticket is a matter of considerable conjecture.

Both the Republican and Democratic campaign managers have fought hard this year, realizing that since Vermont is the first State in the Union to hold an election this fall, the result will be a national issue would have considerable bearing upon the conduct of the national campaign during the next two months.

There is an added interest in the election this year, owing to the participation of the Independence League, whose candidate for Governor, Quimby S. Backus, of Brandon, has made a vigorous campaign. There are six cities and 240 towns in Vermont, and at the election in 1907 all but four towns gave Republican pluralities. All the cities went Republican—Barre by 469, Burlington by 200, Montpelier by 412, Rutland by 449, St. Albans by 158, and Vergennes by 171. The total vote for Governor in 1904 was Bell (Republican), 48,110; Porter (Democrat), 16,558.

W. J. BRYAN, JR., ENGAGED

Will Marry Miss Helen Berger, of Milwaukee, Wis., Within a Year.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., August 31.—The marriage engagement of Miss Helen Berger, daughter of Alexander Berger, prominent miller and Board of Trade man of this city, and William Jennings Bryan, Jr., son of the Democratic presidential candidate, was announced to-day by Mr. Berger, who returned from a business trip to Colorado and Nebraska. Miss Berger and her mother are at present visiting friends in Lincoln, Neb. It is said the wedding may not take place for about a year or longer.

YOUTH KILLS HIS FRIEND

Boys Play With "Unloaded" Pistol
With Unusual Result.

ASHLEY, N. C., August 31.—The "unloaded" pistol, which was the victim, fell dead with a revolver bullet in his brain, fired by his companion, Nathan Arthur, aged eighteen. Palmer and Arthur, with four other boys, were playing in a tent erected upon a vacant lot in Ashley, when the weapon, which he believed to be unloaded, in Palmer's face and pulled the trigger. Without uttering a word Palmer fell dead at his friend's side. At the coroner's inquest held to-night a verdict of "accidental" shooting was returned.

NEEDED NEW PARTY TO SECURE REFORM

Mr. Hisgen, Accepting Independence
Nomination, Lauds
New Organization.

"TRUST BUSTER" AND "OUR NEXT PRESIDENT"

Giving These Titles to the Nominee
Arouses Crowd of Hearst
Followers to Great Enthusiasm—Indorses Every Plank in the Platform.

NEW YORK, August 31.—There was not room enough in the new club house of the Independence League to hold the large crowd that gathered to-night for the dual purpose of being present at the nomination of Thomas L. Hisgen, Independence party candidate for President, and the house warming of the club. William R. Hearst and Mr. Hisgen entered the club house shortly after 9 o'clock, and were greeted by an outburst of cheering. Hisgen was enthusiastically received by the crowd, and the house warming of the club. William R. Hearst and Mr. Hisgen entered the club house shortly after 9 o'clock, and were greeted by an outburst of cheering. Hisgen was enthusiastically received by the crowd, and the house warming of the club.

Colonel Graves Not There.

Many inquiries were made for John Temple Graves, the party's candidate for Vice-President. It had been originally planned to have Mr. Hisgen and Mr. Graves notified at the same time, but owing to the poor health of Mr. Graves this plan was abandoned. Mr. Graves was not present to-night, as he is at the Warm Sulphur Springs, in Virginia.

When Mr. Hisgen's name was first mentioned as the nomination ceremony was about to take place, there was a great cheering. Mr. Hisgen, chairman of the meeting, turned the proceedings over to Henry A. Powell, chairman of the committee. Mr. Powell began by saying that he enjoyed the duty that lay before him of notifying the candidate for the President of the new party, which, he said, in view of the signs of the times, was destined to be historical in the future of the city, State and nation.

New Party Necessary.

Mr. Powell told Mr. Hisgen that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr. Hisgen arose to accept the nomination. He was prolonged cheering, and it was several minutes before the candidate could begin. Mr. Hisgen took a position in the center of two small rooms, where he could get a better light, and then read his address. He said that he had been selected as the standard-bearer of the new party, and then Mr